

Dear colleagues!

We are happy to invite you to participate in the:

1st Multidisciplinary Symposium “Molecular Oncology: From Laboratory Bench To Medicine” (Mol.Onco-2012 Symposium)

which will take place in the Institute of Molecular Biology and Genetics (Kyiv, Ukraine) during September, 17-22 2012.

The 1st Multidisciplinary Symposium “Molecular Oncology: From Laboratory Bench To Medicine” (Mol.Onco-2012 Symposium) organized by the Institute of Molecular Biology and Genetics NAS of Ukraine (Kyiv, Ukraine) is the comprehensive meeting in the field of cancer research – from fundamental molecular aspects of cell transformation to up-to-date approaches in cancer diagnostics and drug development & delivery.

The aim of Mol.Onco-2012 Symposium is to establish permanent and fruitful dialog between cancer researchers on the one hand and members of pharmaceutical and medical society on the other. We invite leading molecular biologists, chemists, physicists and clinicians to communicate with each other and share the knowledge and experience in modern cancer research and therapy fields.

Mol.Onco-2012 Symposium lasts for 6 days and will consist of a Practical and Lecture parts. Hands-on session includes 2 Workshops on Real Time PCR and Microscopy principles – basic methods widely used in research and clinical studies of cancer. 30 participants will be selected to attend Workshop sessions.

Lecture-based sessions are focused on different aspects of cancer investigation and treatment. Leading Ukrainian and worldwide scientists will be invited to give plenary lectures and expert talks on actual problems in fundamental and applied cancer biology. Young scientists selected by Scientific Committee will have an opportunity to present their results during lecture sessions.

Participants are welcome to make a speech or a poster presentation in the following

Sections:

Molecular basics of cancer
Novel approaches in cancer diagnostics
Modern cancer therapy

Workshops:

1. Real Time PCR
2. Microscopy principles
